Newspaper Archive: Donated by Donal O'Sullivan

Donal O'Sullivan, a retired Garda Chief Superintendent, kindly donated a collection of historic newspapers from the 1960s to 1980 and covering many key world and national events over the period. We are grateful to Donal for his extremely kind donation. Donal has written a number of books which are available in the library, including 'The Irish constabularies, 1822-1922 : a century of policing in Ireland' as well as 'The Depot' and 'Church of St John the Evangelist'. Also present in our library collection is Donal's book on District Inspector John A. Kearney, entitled 'District inspector John A. Kearney : the R.I.C. man who befriended Sir Roger Casement'.

Display from the newspaper archives

Occupying our ground floor display area North Campus, are the thought-provoking selections by Paula O Sullivan, who was with us on work placement last summer. Paula focused on the theme of women and orphans with regard to 1970's Ireland, and with particular reference to ex-President Mary Robinson's quest to pass legislation that would help to ameliorate their lives and legal standing. Investigating Mary Robinson's 1971 Adoption Bill, the display reveals heart-breaking and searing testimonies of lives lived far from the public gaze. Please contact any member of library staff if you would like to view the newspaper archive.

Library Project To Archive the Institute's Photographic History

The Library has undertaken a project to catalogue and ultimately archive and scan its pre-digital photographic history. Gerard Griffin has almost completed the cataloguing of this collection of over 6,000 print photographs. We will initially scan 300 of the photographs over the summer as the next stage in the process. A selection of these photographs can be viewed below.

The Library carried out its annual print and online survey in May–June 2014. A summary of the main findings is outlined below. There were a total of 135 replies from Students (75% based in the North Campus and 25% based in the South Campus) and 32 replies from staff (66 % NC / 34% SC). In all there were 18 questions on the surveys. The responses to questions 5, 6, 7 & 9 are listed below. The full survey results will be made available online via the library website. In the summary below we have combined responses of Excellent or Good and taken this to reflect a positive view of the particular service. Average is listed separately; Poor and Very Poor are combined to indicate where a service could improve or where there is significant dissatisfaction with a service. Responses of N/A are not included although it is important to note that they are sometimes significant e.g. South Campus opening hours.

Summary of 'Positive / Negative experiences'; suggestions to improve the library service

- Inadequate opening hours in the North & South Campus were by far the biggest issues for students and were also mentioned by staff. Around exam times earlier opening and later closing times was requested as well as extended Saturday opening hours.
- Negative comments about noise levels in the Cube and the South Campus; also negative comments about noise levels in the North Campus library and lack of enforcement; on the other hand there was also some criticism of the Silent Zones and too much enforcement of this rule.
- A number of complaints re: people using mobile phones in the library and eating food in the library.
- Request for more power points for laptops on both the North & South Campus.
- Requests for more PCs and more Apple Macs in the library.
- Complaints about the library being cleaned during opening hours and disruption caused as a result.

Response to issues raised

Noise - We have attempted to address this issue through:

1. Introducing the Zone system and directing library users to those areas where a low level of talking is permitted (Group Study Rooms, The Cube).
2. We introduced extra hours in the South Campus Reading Room with Security Staff during the first Semester exam times to improve the situation there.
3. Where possible a good deal of library cleaning slots have been moved to the early morning when the library is closed.

We would remind library users that they should contact staff at the desk when there is disruptive behaviour contrary to the Zone rules for any area. We would also remind users that they can help to maintain a suitable atmosphere for work by reminding anyone being disruptive that their behaviour is not acceptable.

PC access We have continued to extend access to the 20 PCs in the NC Library Training Room in the first semester and will do so again in Semester II.

Power points We have installed some extra power points in the North Campus and will request more this year.

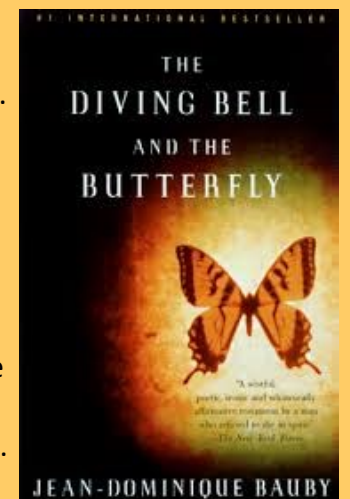

IT Tralee Staff Book Club

All staff throughout the Institute are invited to join in the new ITT Book Club, which will involve informal activities held on both the North and South Campus.

The first book chosen is The Diving-Bell and The Butterfly by Jean-Dominique Bauby. There are copies at the counter in the North Campus and South Campus libraries.

This book was chosen in order to create awareness of people with disabilities in society and is coinciding with the launch, by President Michael D. Higgins, of the UNESCO Chair "Transforming the Lives of People with Disabilities, their families and Community, Through Physical Education, Sport and Recreation and Fitness".

For more information on the Book Club please contact Fiona Mullins.
